

Examination Report & Attendance Register

To be completed after each exam session.
Please complete separate forms for each grade and subject.

Date:	23 March 2026	Grade:	11
Invigilator:	Chanyadery Agenbag
Details of examination venue:	Seperate classroom
Indicate Examination (e.g., June Exam)	March Exam
Subject and paper (e.g., English HL 1, 2 or 3):	Business Studies
Number of attendees:	1	Number of absentees:	-
Reading time observed from		9:00	To 9:10
		10:29	Session concluded:

Briefly report on challenges experienced during the session and anything that might appear to the student as an error on the exam paper:

N/A

- * All Answer sheets must be scanned and uploaded onto the Auxilio Platform <https://auxilio.co.za/onlineplatform/login/index.php> immediately after the exam was written.
- * Email the completed Exam report to dalene@auxilio.co.za after every session.
- * The original copy of the Exam Report must be kept on file by the invigilator in the examination venue.

Learner Name and Surname	Learner ID Number	Learner Signature
Inula Monabg	0805050644054

Signed:

I, Chanyadery Agenbag (Invigilator name & surname),
herewith declare the above information to be true and correct.

Signature:

Thuto Mandaba

Business Studies

Grade 11

23 March 2026

Term 1

Task 2

Section A

Question 1

1.1.1) A

1.1.2) A

1.1.3) B

1.1.4) D

1.1.5) B

1.2.1) (Macro) Micro

1.2.2) Hedging

1.2.3) Go-slow

1.2.4) Unlimited liability

1.2.5) Macro

Section B

Question 2

2.1) Employees Management

2.2) ~~The micro~~ Businesses have direct control over internal factors

- Management can make decisions and implement policies
- They can appoint, train and discipline employees.
- They can adapt strategies quickly.

2.3.1) Challenge

Poor teamwork

Employees refusing to follow instructions

Motivation

Sunrise Furniture is struggling with teamwork in the workshop

Staff refuse to follow instructions and argue with supervisors.

2.3.2) • Trade unions represent employees interests.

- They negotiate better wages and working conditions
- May cause strikes or disruptions.
- Improve communication between workers and management

2.4.1) A merger occurs when two or more businesses combine to form a single new business, usually to increase market share, reduce competition, or improve efficiency.

2.4.2) An acquisition is when one business buys another business, taking control of its operations, assets, and decisions.

- 2.5) • To influence government policies and laws in their favour
- To protect business interests from harmful regulations.
 - To gain support or funding from the government.
 - To reduce taxes or restrictions.
 - To ensure a favourable business environment
 - To represent industry concerns to decision-makers

2.6) Networking is the process of building and maintaining relationships with people and other businesses to share information, opportunities, and support for business growth.

2.7) • The primary sector provides raw materials e.g. wood for furniture

- The secondary sector like Sunrise Furniture uses these materials to manufacture products.
- The tertiary sector provides services, such as transport, sales, and distribution.
- All three sectors are interdependent
- If one sector fails, it affects the others negatively
- Businesses should work together and maintain good (relation) relationship to ensure smooth production and sales.

Section C

Question 4

Introduction

Businesses operate in different environments and can influence these environments positively and negatively. Networking and competition play an important role in the success of businesses in the market environment.

• Ways in which businesses can have a direct influence on the environment

- Create employment opportunities, improving the standard of living.
- Contribute to economic growth by producing goods and services.
- Cause pollution air, water, and land pollution.
- Generate waste that may harm the environment.
- Overuse natural resources such as water and minerals.
- Engage in corporate social responsibility CSR to support communities.
- Influence social conditions through community development project.

Advantages of networking

- Builds relationships with suppliers, customers, and other businesses.
- Provides opportunities for partnerships and collaborations.
- Allows sharing of ideas, knowledge, and experiences.
- Helps business stay informed about market trends.
- Increases businesses opportunities and customer base.
- Improve the reputation and image of the business.
- Can lead to business growth and expansion.

Competition as a challenge in the market environment.

- Businesses compete for the same customers and market share.
- High competition can lead to lower profits.
- Price wars may ~~even~~ occur between businesses.
- New entrants increase pressure on existing businesses.
- Businesses must constantly improve quality and innovate.
- Competition can increase costs due to marketing and improvements.

Strategies to overcome competition

- Improve quality of products or services.
- Offer competitive pricing.
- Provide excellent customer service.
- Use effective marketing and advertising strategies.
- Innovate by introducing new or unique products.
- Focus on niche markets with less competition.
- Build a strong brand image.
- Form partnerships and use networking opportunities.

Conclusion

Businesses influence the environment in both positive and negative ways. Networking helps businesses grow and stay competitive, while competition presents challenges that require effective strategies to overcome.